

Prisoner Exchange Blocks Progress On Korean Cease-Fire

By O. H. P. KING
MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Truce negotiators haggled over prisoner exchange and armistice supervision again today. A United Nations spokesman said results were "absolutely negative."

Only 10 days remain before the provisional cease-fire line across Korea expires.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, U. N. spokesman, said the Reds have not asked for an extension beyond the Dec. 27 deadline. Neither have the Allies.

Line May Change
Under terms of the agreement a provisional 145-mile cease-fire line across Korea would become the center of a 2½ mile wide buffer zone if an armistice were signed by Dec. 27. If no agreement is reached before the deadline, the negotiations and the fighting will continue. A new line will be drawn just before a truce is signed to include any battle changes.

An Allied radio broadcast from Tokyo Monday night declared acceptance of Red demands for blanket exchange of war prisoners might sentence some Allied soldiers "to life in Communist slave labor camps."

Still Slavemasters
The broadcast warned "if the Reds continue to play the role of modern slavemaster and hold out for blind acceptance of their terms, then the issue seems destined to become insoluble."

Results of Monday's two subcommittee sessions at Panmunjom were described by Nuckolls as absolutely negative. Both groups agreed to meet again Tuesday at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. EST Monday.)

The U. N. spokesman said Communist subcommittees appeared to be curious about the list of Red-prisoners Allied delegates have put on the conference table the past two days. The list covers 2,500 sheets of paper printed on both sides.

Foreign Aid Boss Reports Back On Needs Of Europe

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON — (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, the Truman administration's foreign aid boss, is due home from Europe this week to help decide the size of the assistance program to be laid before Congress early next year.

It was learned that both Harriman and Secretary of State Acheson, who recently spent six weeks in Europe, are convinced that Congress should allow the administration greater freedom in switching funds from military to economic uses and that they will undoubtedly recommend this.

More Spending Advised
Both men are understood to feel that the present limits on Western Europe's ability to rearm are of such a nature—that is, financial or economic—that in the long run the U. S. can buy more security for Europe by increasing its economic aid than by concentrating heavily on sending over weapons.

What the opinion of President Truman's two chief advisers appears to boil down to is that the U. S. should spend at this stage more of its billions in aid to help the Europeans step up their own production and relatively somewhat less than it has been on buying American arms to send over to Europe.

Survey Wound Up
Harriman is due in Washington Thursday. Between now and then he is expected to wind up at Paris final work on a survey of Atlantic alliance military needs and production-financial resources which has been made during the past few months by a special committee of the 12 North Atlantic treaty organization (NATO) nations.

This survey, which will be before the Atlantic council meeting at Lisbon in February is expected to produce far-reaching revision of rearmament plans by bringing about:

1. The maximum effort to bring available NATO divisions in Western Europe up to battle readiness by next July 1 so that the NATO general will have about 30 divisions able to fight if necessary.

2. A modification of the long-range goal of the present plan which now calls for the organization and equipment of 90-odd divisions in Western Europe by 1954.

Sailor Surprised
GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — So far as Boatswain's Mate Ruggles Harrington is concerned his wife is Mrs. Santa Claus. Just back from Korea on a 30-day furlough, his wife took him on a tour of newly built homes. One was theirs, built by Mrs. Harrington and relatives while he was aboard ship off the Korean coast.

Conrad King, 45, was found shot to death in the Ryan kitchen. Ryan's wife, Eva, 38, was taken to Redford Receiving hospital with critical wounds in the abdomen.

Police found Ryan's pistol near the victims.

Township Police Chief Stanley Hamacher said Ryan, who recently was elected to his second term as a trustee, told him King's attentions to his wife had broken their home.

"I tried to get her to stop seeing him," Hamacher quoted the husband as saying. "I told her to think of our four children and our home. But she wouldn't give him up."

"I didn't intend to kill him, and I certainly didn't mean to shoot her. I love her, and I'd die for her. I just wanted to scare him, and then she ran between us and that spoiled everything."

Blaze At Soo, Ont.
Makes 25 Homeless
SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. — (AP) — Some 25 persons were made homeless early today when fire destroyed three buildings in the business district of Thessalon, Ont. 50 miles east of here.

The blaze, which caused an estimated $60,000 damage, apparently started in a restaurant. It spread to a rooming house and a block of stores. No one was injured.

Crisis In Steel Pay Talk To Be Reached Today

By WILLIAM C. SMOCK
PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Steel wage talks headed for a crisis today.

The potent CIO United Steelworkers brought its executive board and wage policy committee to this steel capital for possibly momentous sessions.

The USW's top strategists may either outline the way to a peaceful settlement or lay the groundwork for a nation-wide steel strike.

Deadline Jan. 1
While union leaders huddle here, Washington officials are getting set to wade into the twin problems of wages and prices in an effort to speed signing of a new contract before the Jan. 1 strike deadline.

Should a walkout be authorized, Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, is expected to call industry and union negotiators to Washington.

But if the union decides to withhold its first-of-the-year strike threat for a while, Ching may delay arranging bargaining sessions in Washington.

Most likely Ching will wait for word from USW President Philip Murray meeting here before announcing his plans.

Increase Too Small
The union has leveled a 22-point demand on the steel industry but all attention is centered on its dealings with U. S. Steel Corp. since that company usually sets the pattern.

The USW wants a substantial wage increase, guaranteed annual wage, union shop and improved incentive and premium pay. Present wage controls provide a pay increase too small to suit Murray. The steel industry is against any

L'Anse Wreck Fatal To 2 On Runaway Train

L'ANSE, Mich. — (AP) — Death was the price Brakeman John Chapman had to pay for his heroic but futile effort to keep a runaway train from piling up on an icy northern Michigan track.

Chapman, 45, died yesterday of the injuries he suffered in the Friday night wreck near this Lake Superior city. The crash also killed Fireman James B. Bennett, 40, and injured two other crewmen.

The train, carrying a cargo of copper, logs and scrap metal, ran into trouble while climbing a steep grade between here and Marquette, Mich., in a blizzard.

The engine and 22 cars started to skid on icy tracks, and the brakes were useless because of a frozen expansion climbed to the top of the bouncing line of cars and tried in vain to apply the hand brakes.

The train's momentum was too much for them. The locomotive overturned at the curve and plowed eight feet into the ground.

Chapman's companion, Joseph Drake, and Engineer John Brogan are expected to recover from the injuries they suffered. The brakeman died in the St. Joseph medical center in Hancock.

Workmen are still clearing wreckage from the track of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic line.

Ford To Call Back First Of Laid Off 23,000 Men Dec. 26

DETROIT — (AP) — The Ford Motor Company announced today that it would begin on Dec. 26 to recall some 23,000 workers laid off as a result of model changeovers.

Employees at the Rouge motor plant and the Lincoln-Mercury assembly plants at St. Louis and Los Angeles will be asked to report on Dec. 26. Those at the Dearborn assembly plant, the Dearborn Iron Foundry and the Lincoln-Mercury plant at Metuchen, N. J. will return beginning Jan. 2.

Production at FORD division assembly plants, other than at Dearborn, will be resumed Jan. 7.

Big Nations Recognize New Syria Government

DAMASCUS, Syria — (AP) — The western Big Three and other nations sent diplomats to the foreign ministry yesterday to give recognition to the new Syrian government which came to power Nov. 29 in a bloodless coup.

The nations are Saudi Arabia, Turkey, Italy, France, Britain, the United States and Belgium. Lebanon and Jordan previously had signed their recognition.

The diplomats handed in notes acknowledging Syria's notice that Col. Fawzi Silo had become the new chief of state, succeeding President Hachem Attasi, who resigned.

Silo was made chief by Syria's "strong man," Col. Adib Shisheki, who headed the coup.

Heartbalm Columnist Dorothy Dix, 90, Dead

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Dorothy Dix, known to millions of newspaper readers as a conductor of a heartbalm column, is dead.

Miss Dix, in private life Mrs. Elizabeth Meriwether Gilmer, suffered a stroke about two and a half years ago. Death came yesterday.

Reference books list her age as 81, but associates said she concealed her real age for years and that she was actually 90 when she died. She was a native of Montgomery county, Tennessee.

Private funeral services are planned here tomorrow.

During the half century that her syndicated column was published her humor and understanding drew the confidence of men and women from all corners of the globe.

"People tell me things," she once said, "that you would think they wouldn't even tell to God."

Behind the cheerful exterior was a career torn by misfortune. She married at 18. Her husband, George O. Gilmer, was incurably stricken two years after their marriage and for 35 years, until his death, she nursed him and carried on her writing. There were no children.

She conducted the Dorothy Dix column until shortly before she came ill, when others carried on for her. Associates said her will provides that after her death the column is not to appear under her name. The future of the column has not been determined. Officials of the distributing Bell Syndicate in New York could not be reached for comment.

Plane Plunge Carries 56 Persons To Death

Judge Accepts Task Of Directing Cleanup In Truman's Regime

NEW YORK — (AP) — Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy, an old hand at investigations, has accepted an assignment from President Truman to sweep wrongdoers out of the federal government.

The jurist, who prosecuted the government's perjury case against Alger Hiss, will direct a non-partisan commission designed to take action against public officials who betray their trusts.

Protections for honest office holders also will be set up by the commission.

Gets Free Hand
Murphy, a Democrat, will be given a free hand to direct the job as he sees fit. He will be responsible only to the chief executive. No formal announcement of the judge's selection has been made by the White House in Washington. However, it was learned here last night that Murphy will take the job.

The source of the information on Murphy's acceptance could not be disclosed.

President Truman and Murphy met twice in Washington Saturday, apparently to discuss the new job. But no definite statement concerning the talks was made as Murphy returned here and the president left on an overnight yacht trip down the Potomac.

Mr. Truman returned to Washington last night from the trip, which was regarded in the capital as more of a business cruise than a pleasure jaunt—the business being the planning of a housecleaning program.

Won't Quit Bench
The list of persons accompanying the president was not announced. But it generally was believed that Mr. Truman had taken along a number of advisers on whom he relies for working out the program.

Aboard the White House yacht Williamsburg, the president and his aides could work undisturbed by telephone calls and visitors.

Murphy will not leave his lifetime post on the federal bench to direct Mr. Truman's investigation. It was understood that he will be given a leave of absence after clearing his docket.

At 46, the husky, mustached jurist has a wide reputation as an investigator. He headed the criminal section of the U. S. attorney's office in New York before gaining national prominence by successfully prosecuting Hiss, a former state department official, of lying to a federal grand jury.

Michigan Shivering For Third Day In Bitter Cold Wave

(By The Associated Press)
Michigan endured bitter cold today but was taking it in stride. Along the St. Marys river in the Soo area of the Upper Peninsula residents contended with an ice flood which backed up to some homes.

The condition was not reported alarming, however.

Overnight temperatures fell to as far as 11 below zero in southern Michigan.

But on the whole the state was going through it without major trouble.

At the same time it was indicated that Michigan would catch no more than the tail end of a new snow storm developing east of the Rockies.

Governor To Retain Kozaren On State Liquor Commission

LANSING — (AP) — John J. Kozaren of Hamtramck will be reappointed to the State Liquor Control commission, Governor Williams announced Saturday.

Kozaren, whose first term expired Dec. 15, will serve for another three years at $8,500 a year if the Senate confirms his nomination.

Kozaren was appointed to the commission by Williams in 1949 as chairman, and stepped down a year ago in favor of George J. Burke, Jr., of Ann Arbor.

Williams said the "team" of Burke, Kozaren and Allan B. Millham of Kalamazoo, "is doing such a fine job I want them to continue."

British Pound Is Loosened Up

By ERNEST AGNEW
LONDON — (AP) — Winston Churchill's government embarked today on a stringently controlled test of how much the pound sterling is worth. Under the new rules, the pound can fluctuate only four cents—from $2.78 to $2.82.

The Bank of England reopened the money market for private trading, allowing the law of supply and demand to fix the price of the pound within this extremely rigid limit.

Churchill restored the small measure of freedom presumably for the psychological effect.

His aim was to restore world confidence in the country's weakened currency, and thus promote business for Britain.

The Bank of England announced that the spot cash price of the pound, still officially pegged at $2.80, will be allowed to fluctuate two cents either way on a limited "free" foreign exchange market which opened this morning.

MONEY MAN — Former Gov. Roy Turner of Oklahoma, above, has been named treasurer of the Democratic National Committee by Chairman Frank E. McKinney, Turner, an Oklahoma oil and cattle producer, will fill the vacancy created by resignation of Sidney Salomon, Jr., of St. Louis.

Shipping Ended At Soo Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP) — The ice-coated freighter Hagarty locked through here yesterday to close the 1951 shipping season.

With a cargo of grain from Fort William, Ont., the Canada Steamship Lines vessel was the last ship in from Lake Superior.

The Hagarty's arrival was a cold and wintry one. Ice floating in the lock delayed her passage 15 minutes.

It was too cold for much of a reception party to be on hand. Sunday morning the temperature had fallen to nine below zero.

Capt. R. Belcher said his vessel had picked up her ice coating on Whitefish bay. It encountered a 20 to 25 miles an hour southwester on the bay.

Korean Battle Front Has Deathless Day; Only Minor Clashes

SEOUL — (AP) — The Korean war was relatively quiet today. Only minor patrol clashes were reported. Hazy weather reduced aerial activity.

On the battle front, the U. S. Eighth army reported not a single American was killed in a 24-hour period ended Sunday evening. It was the first time since August a "deathless day" was reported at the front.

There were other Allied casualties Sunday, but they were light.

Lag In Europe Affects Ike's Political Hopes

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Young (R-ND.) said today the Western European defense program is lagging and the possibility of failure "isn't going to do General Eisenhower any good politically."

Predicting that Senator Taft (R-Ohio) will be the 1952 Republican presidential nominee, Young said he thinks Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is going to be held partly responsible for Western Europe's reported slow response to rearming efforts.

Eisenhower, who commands the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, is being boomed by some Republicans for their party's presidential nomination. The general hasn't said publicly whether he will run.

Young said the longer Eisenhower waits to make his intentions known, the stronger Taft's bid for the nomination will grow.

"I don't blame Eisenhower for what is happening in Europe," Young told reporters. "He is doing a good job. It is the state department that is falling down. The military everywhere are doing a much better job than state department representatives."

"But the program is lagging and if it ends as pretty much of a failure, that isn't going to do Eisenhower any good politically."

Accidents Take 11 Lives In Michigan Over Last Weekend

(By The Associated Press)
Eleven persons, including the two heroic trainmen of a runaway freight train, came to violent deaths in Michigan over the weekend.

Six were killed in motor traffic and three others in fires.

An elderly Midland woman was burned to death in her kitchen Sunday.

The victim, Mrs. Ruanna Wilson, 73, was cooking dinner and her clothing caught fire.

6 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Recruit Station To Be Retained

Inductions Will Be At Milwaukee

The Escanaba Army-Air Force recruiting office will continue to supply enlistment information to interested young men although it will no longer actually enlist them in the services.

The change from a main recruiting station, where processing and enlisting of men is done, to an information and encouragement office is part of a nation-wide readjustment of recruiting procedures. Under an Armed Forces Induction Service program one induction station will be established in each state to which all men will proceed for enlistment in the service branch. Michigan's main recruiting station will be Detroit but, as a convenience, Upper Peninsula men will be sent to the Army-Air Force main recruiting station in Milwaukee.

Little Change in Personnel

This was reported today by Capt. A. C. Townsend, sector commander in the Escanaba U. S. Army, U. S. Air Force recruiting office, who also declared that the station here will be maintained by most of the personnel there now. Along with Captain Townsend, other military personnel in the office will be Capt. C. W. Smith, U. S. Air Force, assistant sector commander, Master Sergeant George Williams, USAF; Master Sergeant Leo J. Laviolette, Army; Sergeant Marion Kurta, Women's Air Force, and Corporal Louise Owens, Women's Army Corps.

One of the three civilian employees now engaged there will be retained. Navy recruiting stations at Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie will continue to be maintained there but induction of young men into the Navy will also be at the Milwaukee main station under the Armed Forces Induction Service program. The Marines recruiting office in Iron Mountain and Marquette will continue to send men to Milwaukee for actual enlistment.

More Careful Screening

Captain Townsend explained that the plan to maintain only one main recruiting station in each state was adopted to achieve a more careful screening of applicants. In the past, under the system now in effect, some men recruited from the many induction stations in a state were in service life found to be under qualified for enlistment.

Selective service headquarters here also learned last week that processing of draftees would be discontinued in Escanaba after the first of the year, with this function being designated to Milwaukee. Along with this, the January draft quota for the Upper Peninsula was cancelled in order to allow time for coordination of plans in the setup. It is expected that new calls, for both induction and preinduction, will be forwarded to the Upper Peninsula draft boards for the month of January at an early date.

Attorneys Divided On Circuit Court Split; Delta Bar Asks Study

A three-county coalition of attorneys Saturday at Iron Mountain steam-rolled opposition to win the first round in a plan to split the 25th judicial circuit and thus provide judgeship within their area.

Menominee, Iron and Dickinson counties were behind the movement to split the circuit; Delta and Marquette were on record as opposing it.

The Delta County Bar Association, favoring a study of redistricting the circuits in the U. P. to thus equalize the burden among the circuits without the necessity of employing an additional judge, were outnumbered at the meeting.

Win Three-County Vote

Before the Delta Bar Association had the opportunity to present its resolution the 25th District Bar Association, with most of the members present from Menominee, Dickinson and Iron counties, voted 15 to 7 divide the present circuit into to circuits. Atty. Leigh Caswell, Crystal Falls, read a five-man committee report advocating two circuits—Menominee, Dickinson and Iron in one new circuit; Delta and Marquette remaining in the present 25th circuit.

The committee also proposed that it write a bill to be presented to the 1952 legislature, providing for the split and the election of an additional judge in April, 1953.

Voting against the motion were six Delta Bar Association members and one attorney from Iron Mountain.

Delta Favors Study

The report of the committee, comprising one member from each of the five counties in the circuit, was read but no copies were available and discussion was limited. Atty. Caswell was standing for a couple minutes while Atty. Michael J. Anuta of Menominee, president of the 25 District Bar Association, completed his remarks opening the meeting.

In letters to Bar members, President Anuta previously had described the coming meeting as "historic" but did not indicate that a motion would be presented before general study and discussion of the proposal.

Delta Bar Association in a recent meeting in Escanaba adopted a resolution favoring a complete study of the circuit courts in the Upper Peninsula, and advocated redistricting to avoid the additional expense of another judge.

The three other circuits in the U. P. are much smaller in population. One county subtracted from the 25th and added to one of the circuits would relieve the burden on Judge Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone.

Matter Not Closed

Marquette County Bar Association was not represented at the Iron Mountain meeting but reported in writing that it opposed splitting the 25th circuit.

The Delta Bar Association through its president, Atty. William E. Anderson, advised the 25th District Bar meeting that it opposes splitting the 25th circuit; but does favor a study of two propositions: 1—Redistricting of U. P. circuits; 2—Establishment of a two-judge circuit in the 25th.

The matter is not considered closed by the Delta Bar Association, said a spokesman. Polling of the entire 25th District Bar membership on the motion adopted at Iron Mountain may be requested. The cost of an additional judge for a new circuit, such as proposed by the Menominee-Dickinson-Iron county attorneys, would be approximately $13,000 a year.

Redistricting, as proposed for study by the Delta Bar, would entail no additional costs.

Bodies Arrive In California

Finlan, Cayenberg Being Returned

The bodies of two Delta county servicemen who died in the Korea fighting were returned to the United States Saturday for burial here.

The men are: Private First Class, US Army, William P. Finlan, son of Mrs. Emma Finlan, 413 South 10th street, Escanaba, and Air Force 2nd Lt. Earl J. Cayenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cayenberg of Ensign.

The two Korean veterans were among 510 dead Americans (15 Michigan servicemen) brought back to the United States by the Loma Victory which docked at San Francisco Saturday evening. It was not disclosed when the bodies would arrive here.

Last month Finlan was posthumously awarded the Purple Heart for heroic action in Korea. The citation was received by his mother from Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr.

Fire Destroys Danforth Home

Blaze Spreads From Faulty Chimney

A fire which started in the chimney yesterday morning completely destroyed the home of Seine R. Brandts at Danforth Hill.

The entire house and most of the Brandts' possessions were lost in the blaze which swept swiftly through the home. The house and furniture were insured for $6,000.

The fire started in a chimney after Brandts had lighted a fire in a coal heater. After lighting the fire, Brandts went down in the basement of the house to work on a water pump. Hearing noise upstairs he came back up the steps to find the fire blazing and smoking. The home owner had barely time to escape from the house as the fire rapidly spread to other rooms.

Firemen were called at 8:17 a. m. but were unable to check the roaring blaze. A neighboring home was drenched to save it from catching fire.

A similar fire at the Brandts home had been checked by the fire department in mid-November. Fire Captain Clarence Schroeder said.

On Saturday night firemen of the North Escanaba station were called to the tarpaper residence of Nick Marteenzie, Sawdust road Wells, but were unable to save the building which was badly gutted by fire which began from an overheated stove pipe. Marteenzie was at work when the fire broke out.

4 To Report For Induction

Group Will Report
Here December 19

Four Delta county selectees will report for induction December 19 at the Escanaba induction station, the local draft board reported this morning.

They are Robert E. Larson and Jimmie E. Creten of Escanaba, William A. Nelson, Bark River, and Roger A. Moberg, Ensign. The group will be the last Delta county induction group to be processed at the Escanaba induction station. After January 1 local registrants will be sent to Milwaukee for both preinduction and induction examinations.

Robert Schoen Dies In Wilson

Sawmill Operator
Has Heart Attack

Robert A. Schoen, 60, widely known Upper Peninsula mill operator, died suddenly in the family home in Wilson at 9 Saturday night of a heart attack.

Mr. Schoen was born March 20, 1882 in Green Bay. On April 12, 1904, he married Martha Garkow in Milwaukee. Ten years later the couple moved to Wilson.

Mr. Schoen operated sawmills in a number of localities in the Upper Peninsula, and was one of the early pioneers in establishing portable mills. He was a member of the I. O. O. F.

Surviving are his widow; one son, Glenn M. Hermansville; three daughters, Mrs. Phillip (Annette) Wietzke, Milwaukee, Mrs. John R. (Carmelea) Williams, Bark River, and Mrs. John (Corabelle) Kobasic, Escanaba; one brother, Otto, Wilson; 12 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 from the Boyle funeral home with the Rev. Karl J. Hammar of Escanaba officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Wilson cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning at 10 Tuesday morning.

Community Chorus Will Sing Carols At Bark River

BARK RIVER—A community chorus of members of all church choirs of the Bark River area and others interested in joining the group will present a program of Christmas carols Saturday, Sunday and Monday, December 22, 23, and 24, at 8:30 p. m. in front of the Bark River community building.

In connection with the carol program the story of Christmas will be read by the Rev. Philip Lindblom, lay pastor of Salem Lutheran church, Bark River.

The program has been arranged in keeping with the Lions' club sponsored theme, "Put Christ Back Into Christmas." Miss Maureen Krause is in charge, assisted by Mrs. I. R. Nelson. Those who wish to take part in the carol singing are asked to contact Miss Krause.

The general public is invited to attend the program.

Past, Present Leaders Of U. P. Guard Honored

ISHPEMING—(Special)—Lt. Col. William F. Milford, Jr., of Calumet, and Lt. Col. Leonard C. Ward, of Escanaba, past and present commanders, respectively, of the 107th Engineer Sombat battalion, Upper Michigan National Guard, were honored at a dinner in the headquarters armory here Saturday night.

Approximately 60 persons, including Ishpeming civic leaders, former 107th officers and present officers of companies in Marquette, Ishpeming, Escanaba, Manistique and Calumet, attended.

The principal address was given by Lt. Col. Allan F. Olson, Marquette, who reviewed briefly highlights in the colorful history of the 107th Engineers who served with the 32nd division in World War I and II and who, since post-World War II reorganization, have been attached to Michigan's 46th infantry division. The latter is commanded by Maj. Gen. Ralph A. Loveland, formerly of Calumet, who commanded the 107th Engineers as a major in World War I. Olson traced the history of the 107th and pointed out that in World War II they went from Camp McCoy, Wis., to Camp Livingston, La., and thence to Fort Dix, N. J., jumping-off point for duty in the European theater. Members of the 107th participated in the huge Normandy landing, greatest amphibious operation in the history of warfare, and many of them worked on the crossing of the Rhine river in Germany, the outstanding engineering project of World War II.

Both Colonels Olson and Ward commended Colonel Milford for his job of reorganizing the 107th Engineers after the last war. "His work of organizing companies in many cities in the Upper Peninsula after the war was an outstanding contribution," Ward said.

Colonel and Mrs. Milford were presented with a silver tea set by

Colder Weather Is Due Wednesday

There will be some moderation in temperature in the Escanaba area tonight and Tuesday—but colder weather is forecast for Wednesday with probable 10 degrees below.

S. E. Decker, U. S. Weather Bureau, today said no new seasonal cold records were set here over the weekend. The mercury dropped to 9 below yesterday morning and it was 3 below this morning.

Tonight's forecast is for temperatures down to zero with some light snow. Tuesday will mark the start of colder weather and high winds in the afternoon, continuing through Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Motorists are advised by Decker that 3 to 6 inches of additional snow is forecast for the Lower Michigan - Wisconsin - Northern Illinois area.

1952 Will Be Year Of Decision On St. Lawrence Seaway Project

CANADA'S House of Commons gave thumping approval last week to the St. Lawrence seaway project. The bill now goes to the Senate where passage is regarded as certain.

The Canadian proposal leaves the door open for American cooperation if the United States Congress is willing. However it is also evident that Canada is prepared to go it alone, if necessary. The Canadians want the project under way by 1953. They have virtually abandoned hope that American cooperation will be forthcoming and it is not difficult to understand their attitude.

Canada has been extremely patient. For more than 30 years the Canadians have waited for the American Congress to take positive action towards the realization of the seaway. In 1941 an agreement between the two countries for joint construction was signed but Congress refused to ratify the agreement. The project has been stalled since then.

The seaway proposal will be before Congress again next year. This will be the year of decision as far as American cooperation on this project is concerned. If the United States declines to act, Canada will go it alone.

From the American viewpoint the results will be most undesirable. Canada does not intend to develop the seaway to the maximum extent possible. The shipping over the canal will be predominantly to American ports which means that American shippers will pay through the nose for tolls. Canada will be the beneficiary of the power development but the electric power needs of the eastern United States are equally acute.

The most vigorous efforts for ratification of the seaway will be made in the next session of Congress. This probably will be the last chance for United States cooperation on a project that is more important to the United States than it is to Canada.

BUSINESS LEADER (Iron Mountain News)

It was inevitable, in the opinion of those who have followed his career from the day that he set out to sell aluminum pots and pans from door-to-door, that William J. Grede would reach the top in whatever field he ultimately selected to tackle. He selected manufacturing, and today he is the newly-elected president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

It is further significant that the man who now heads the most powerful and far-reaching organization of industrialists in America is president, also, of a manufacturing company—Grede Foundries, Inc.—which has an operating unit in this community. And it is likewise encouraging that this business leader has an active part, as director, in the newly organized Kingsford Chemical Co., which has taken over all of the property comprising the Iron Mountain Ford plant.

As president of NAM, Mr. Grede will spend the greater part of the forthcoming year traveling over the country, talking with individuals and groups in all fields of business and industry; inquiring into the national economy, and emphasizing—as he has always done—the spirit of free enterprise as the backbone of industrial America.

As a man of deep convictions, Mr. Grede has always been an outspoken champion of the free, competitive enterprise system, and has been in constant demand as a speaker. It is assumed that the demands on his time and services will now be greatly expanded and that his office in Milwaukee, as well as his family, will see little of him in the 12 months to come.

It is hoped that in his travels he will find frequent opportunity to call attention to the economic and manpower resources of this community and the Upper Peninsula generally. He is now, certainly, in a position to perform a valuable service in that direction.

Our compliments and congratulations to "Bill" Grede in the new and singular distinction that has come to him. It may be confidently predicted that he will do the job just a little better than it has ever been done before.

Dictators Destroy Invention Incentive

DICTATOR-RULED countries find it hard to encourage new inventions where there is no real patent protection for the inventors. A special correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor states that Romania has set up special commissions to award inventions out of her workers. Ostensibly they admit that the inventor has rights, but the laws now in effect provide that if he is not satisfied with the deal proposed by the government, "the invention may be expropriated according to the laws in force."

Russia has nodded its approval of the project, with the condition that USSR is to share whatever inventions may result. If precedent provides any criterion, doubtless Russia will claim that some Muscovite in the musty past had already invented whatever inventions Romania may report, comments National Patent Council. The Russian propaganda machine may be running low on its list of American inventions it claims to have originated. There has been no report of any important Russian inventions of late.

Propaganda is the bread and butter of communism. One weak link in the propaganda chain could be the ridiculous claims concerning inventions.

There is no incentive to invent in Russia like that provided by our patent system in the United States. All Russian inventions automatically become the property of the Great Red Father in Moscow. The Romanian satellite may experiment with incentives, but must keep the Red Father informed as to what comes of it.

Questions and Answers

Q—When did the Vatican City become an independent state?

A—The Vatican City was created as an independent state by the Lateran Treaty signed by Cardinal Gasparri and Premier Mussolini and ratified by the pope, in 1929.

Q—To whom is the Lion of Lucerne a memorial?

A—This famous statue in Lucerne, Switzerland, commemorates the brave defense of Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI, made by the Swiss Guards.

Q—From what animal is krimmer fur obtained?

A—Krimmer is a gray fur resembling astrakhan, made from the pelts of young lambs of the Crimean Peninsula.

Q—Is Friday considered an unlucky day in most countries of the world?

A—This superstition prevails almost everywhere in Christian countries. The association of Friday with ill-luck probably arose from the connection of this day with the Crucifixion.

Life's Stages

By Gordon Martin

Man is born with lots of energy which marks his early days, and it shapes his youthful living and establishes his ways. He's a devil with the women and a self-acknowledged sport, and he likes a round of parties and some fun of any sort. But it might be said he starts a brand new chapter in his life, when at last he settles down and takes unto himself a wife.

He is unaware, perhaps, that he has reached another stage, as he makes the slow transition from his youth to middle age. But he finds he needs some glasses so his sight he can restore, and he doesn't laugh at specs and call them "cheaters" any more. Then it's sooner or it's later comes a problem with his teeth, and a bridge or plate no longer is a thing that he's beneath.

So it's eyes and teeth and, then, it's likely diet follows next, and perhaps some special exercise to keep his muscles flexed. And a symbol of his status are some bedroom slippers soft, and his head is bald and bare like those at he often scoffed. Thus does man consume his lifetime and it isn't hard to see, why he spends so much time talking of the man he used to be.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—Today Drew Pearson begins a series of columns on the subject uppermost in the American public's mind—"How does corruption in government get started and what is the cure?" Pearson, who began hammering on income-tax scandals ahead of anyone else in the nation and who has helped obtain the conviction of two congressmen, is probably better qualified to write on this subject than anyone in the nation's capital.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A lot of people these days are asking how corruption got started in the U. S. government. The answer probably goes back to three main roots.

Root No. 1—Got started during the war years when Roosevelt concentrated so intensely on winning the war that he paid little attention to domestic policy.

Root No. 2—Got a deep hold in 1944, when Roosevelt was so anxious to be re-elected that he threw control of the Democratic party over to the big-city bosses. That was the year that Bob Hannegan of St. Louis, Frank Hague of Jersey City, Ed Kelly of Chicago, plus Ed Flynn of the Bronx put across Harry Truman for vice president, even going to the extent of deceitfully changing FDR's letter regarding Truman and William O. Douglas in order to do so.

Root No. 3—Got growing in May of 1945 when President Truman, then in office one month, kicked out Francis Biddle, the attorney general, who insisted on rewarding the U. S. attorney in Kansas City who had convicted Boss Pendergast.

The full inside story of how Truman fired Biddle, a strait-laced U. S. circuit judge from Philadelphia, has never been told. It goes to the bottom of the little-realized fact that today the Justice and the Treasury departments have become the great patronage plums of the party in power.

There was a time when the Post Office department supplied the patronage to the party. But today, with postmasters largely under civil service, the party bosses look to the treasury, which controls taxes, and the Justice department, which has the power to prosecute. For the power to tax and the power to put people in jail or save them means far more to the city bosses than any other single thing in Washington.

BIG BOSSES STEP IN

One month after Truman took office, therefore, Bob Hannegan and the city bosses who finessed him into the White House decided they wanted a Justice department which would do their bidding.

Few people knew it, but the new president was under great obligation to Francis Biddle. He had handed Senator Truman much of the inside research on the Nazi cartels' links with Standard Oil of New Jersey, the Aluminum Corporation, Bausch and Lomb, plus other amazing revelations which put the Truman committee in the headlines and started the little-known senator from Missouri on his way to the White House.

On the other hand, Biddle had flatly refused to appoint Truman's old army sergeant, Fred Canfil, as U. S. marshal in Kansas City. He also blocked the appointment of Truman's pal, Ex-Congressman Dick Duncan of St. Louis, to be a federal judge in Missouri, refused to parole Tom Pendergast and insisted on reappointing as U. S. attorney, Maurice Milligan, the man who had sent Pendergast to jail.

Perhaps this was why the new president was ashamed to fire Biddle and asked his secretary, the late Steve Early, to do it instead. Biddle, however, not appreciating this second-hand method of doing business, demanded and got to see the president personally.

"I quite understand that a new president wants his own friends in his cabinet," Biddle told Truman. "But it seems to me you should tell me so yourself, Mr. President, not detail it to a secretary."

Embarrassed, Truman agreed. "May I ask," continued Biddle, "who my successor is going to be?"

"Tom Clark," replied Truman.

CLARK, THE POLITICIAN

Biddle couldn't conceal his amazement. A few days before he had decided to fire Clark as chief of the criminal division because of his easygoing attitude toward criminal prosecution.

Remonstrating with Truman, he described Clark as a "fixer," urged him not to take his word regarding Clark's lack of qualifications, but to consult Jim McGranery, then No. 2 man in the justice department.

McGranery went to see Truman, but is reported to have pulled his punches on Clark. Shortly thereafter McGranery became a federal judge in Philadelphia.

1951's Dizzy Divorces

Fishhooks, Horses And Popsicles Lead Parade Of Cold, Cold Love

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

While you're reading this, put a nice, dreamy record on the phonograph. "Hearts and Flowers" would do nicely. This is a story about love. Love that has gone a little sour, perhaps, but love just the same for 1951's parade of dizzy divorces.

It takes real, deep, passionate love to make a man sprinkle fishhooks in his wife's bed. That's what happened to Mrs. Stanley H. Langdon of Sydney, Australia. She got her divorce.

So did Joseph L. DeLemere of Detroit. He told a tender story of his wife's fondness for horses. He finally told her, "It's either me or the horses." She put on her hat and headed for the track.

A touching story was unfolded in a Brazil, Ind., court by Mrs. Geneva Mae Pollom. Everything was idyllic, until her husband told the grocer not to let her charge any more popsicles.

Romance in its purest form happened to Mrs. Anne Swick of Pittsburgh. She won a divorce because her husband wanted to tattoo her and put her in a circus.

A tale of true love came from the lips of Paul Joanethis, a restaurant operator of Miami, Fla. He filed suit for divorce saying his wife wouldn't cook for him. When he was hungry, she gently remarked, "Go to your own Greasy Spoon."

The wisdom of Solomon came down to the husband of Mrs. Lela Diepenbroek of St. Louis. When she threatened to leave him, he said there was only one fair way to divide their belongings. So he took up his saw and cut all the furniture in half.

It's the little things that make a marriage. In Los Angeles, Mrs. Jane Neally said her husband knew about the little things. He cursed her, struck her, threw mashed potatoes at her, tossed chicken pies at the ceiling and then sawed off the handles of her croquet mallets.

Tender love words caused the end of the marriage of Thomas Anderson of Los Angeles. The words were, "You fool." Not only did Mrs. Anderson utter them, but she taught their parrot to say the same thing.

In Wisconsin, a dairy state, Mrs. Agnes Wilkins of Madison won a divorce because her husband wanted her to use oleomargarine instead of butter. The judge said that was cruel and inhuman.

A marriage is based on mutual understanding. That was, apparently, lacking in the union of John and Bett, Dimick of Los Angeles. She bought a new tailored suit, and John dunked her in the bathtub. She was wearing the suit at the time.

Money matters must be discussed frankly in a working marriage. Mrs. Sarah Daly of Jersey City asked her husband for money to buy groceries. He frankly shoved a 50-cent piece down her throat. And so they were divorced. In Paris, France, M. Claude got a divorce. There was just one little thing that disturbed him about his wife. She liked to run around without any clothes on.

The "better or worse" aspects to marriage ruined the wedded bliss of Mrs. Elaine L. House of Detroit. Things were tough, so House obtained a loan. He told the loan company he needed to pay for Mrs. House's funeral. Only she wasn't dead.

Every once in a while, anybody likes a little quiet around the house. But Laughlin Hayes of Detroit overdid it, said Mrs. Gladys Hayes. He didn't say a word to her for 223 days. They went their separate ways.

And there were the romantic events that happened to Mrs. Ethel Sue Faye of Miami. Her husband, a disc-jockey, told the world about their marriage. Mostly he criticized her cooking and laughed at their "so-called honeymoon." Ethel sued.

a farm supper of friend potatoes, fried ham and bread 'n butter pickles. A man needs about six gems with his supper; but with those, plus a wedge of hot mince pie and a glass of cold creamy milk he makes out very well.—Haddon Pearson.

So They Say

Never resort to mathematics until you've exhausted the possibilities of two toothpicks and a piece of string.—William Bushnell Stout, airplane designer, advising young inventors.

In this day and time soldiers cannot think merely in terms of guns, planes, tanks, regiments and ships. We have got to think also of the aspirations of people of the economy of the people.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

O JOYEUX NOEL—The holiday season is incomplete without a Christmas tree in the parlor, and how to come by a Christmas tree without buying it at the corner market is a procedure complicated by the law.

Once upon a time folks could romp in to the cutter, haul a buffalo robe over their knees, and go joyfully off to the country to cut down a Christmas tree. They would carol happily along the way, the sleigh bells jingling delightful accompaniment.

Today the family intent on cutting its own tree in the wide open spaces may sing on the way out — but they preserve a stealthy silence when homeward bound and peer apprehensively out of steamy car windows to see if the law is after them.

For they do not have in their possession a Bill of Sale and Consent, which begins: Know All Men by These Presents—and continues from there with equally impressive legal phrases.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT — If you don't know, Michigan law specifically prohibits the cutting and transportation of Christmas trees and evergreen boughs without the written consent of the owner of the land and his signature on a bill of sale.

Out for a weekend drive we observed a man hurriedly tying on his car the tree he had hastily chopped down along the roadside. We had a notion to stop and sternly catechise him.

Sir, we would say, have you, the party of the second part, received from the legal owner of the lands and premises herein-after described, and in consideration for $1 and other good and valuable considerations, a bill of sale and consent?

No doubt he would fumble with the tree and blush and say, "Ugh?"

Sir, we would continue, does the legal document of which I speak and in which you are presumably in receipt thereof, acknowledge that the party of the first part has bargained, sold, conveyed, granted, and authorized the cutting of this here Christmas tree?

Then when he hid his head among the evergreen branches, completely shamed and confused, we would go back to our car and ride merrily on.

Yes, we thought about doing that, but we didn't. It would be quite fair to make him so unhappy just before Christmas.

GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT — It has been our experience that the tree snatched from the woods does not hold its needles well. The green needles rattle to the floor, leaving the bare stalk standing something like the after in a before-and-after forest fire picture.

This forlorn condition is only accentuated by the ornaments. Only solution is to call it quits and remove the tree before it falls over and hurts someone.

Often the same catastrophe occurs when greens are picked to make wreaths and other festive decorations. Drying needles drip like rain, revealing the unfestive string and wire.

EARLY OR LATE—Some people obtain their Christmas tree early, others not until a few days before Christmas—and some put it up on Christmas eve.

Many deer hunters from Lower Michigan return with evergreen trees rather than deer draped across the fenders. This means the tree is cut nearly a month in advance of Christmas.

Conservation department officers tell me that most of the Bill of Sale and Consent forms issued are to deer hunters. Few local people request them. Probably they would have no use for them, since it has become safer and more convenient to purchase a tree from a dealer than to risk prosecution, fallen needles, and Christmas in the clink.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

A STYLISH WORD
Some years ago a writer compiled a short list of what he called "stylish words," as contrasted with their plain, homely, natural companions, or "working words." His remarks, however, were intended for those authors who love to stick in $2 words, instead of ordinary 2-cent words, just to show their learning. Nevertheless, in building up one's vocabulary, it is well to know these $2 words and to be able to use them properly when the occasion arises.

On his list was the word "category" (CAT-i-GO-ry). Its ordinary meaning or "working companion" is class, as he says. That is true, as far as it goes, but "category" or "very wide and distinctive class" would come nearer to its actual meaning.

In its original Greek form, "kategoria," which meant assertion, the word was introduced by the philosopher, Aristotle, some twenty-three centuries ago. He applied it to each one of the ten major forms to which, he asserted, all knowledge would be reduced. As these ten were substance, quantity, quality, relation, place, time, position, possession, action, habit or state, one can readily see that a "category" is an extremely wide class, a comprehensive division. Except among philosophers, this latter is the meaning in which the term is chiefly used today.

More common, perhaps, is the adjective "categorical" (CAT-i-GOR-i-kul). Although this is derived from "category," its usual meaning is nearer the Greek notion of "assertion," for "categorical" means positive, stating the fact, without any guess work, unconditional. A "categorical answer" is simple and direct, one that clearly meets the question.

The skeleton of a horse estimated at 100,000 years old was found in Switzerland. Maybe they'll still find the one we bet on.

The man who is a stickler for law is liable to be a trial to his friends.

A Chicago poet married a girl debater. We hope he'll at least have a chance for rebuttal.

A bachelor is a man who thinks he's so smart about marriage that he's a bachelor.

Ruark Offers His Apologies

Unlabelled Subtlety Doesn't Always Pay

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—All the serious trouble I ever get into in this business where you wind up with one foot in your face and somebody else's on your rear seems to come when I get humorous without sticking a red stamp saying "Funny" on the product.

You see a man today hip-deep in personal apology for one of those transgressions in judgment, I guess, where you hurt feelings unwittingly and people you love get mad at you. I'm referring to a piece the other day about my old friend, Mr. Bernard Baruch, in which I undertook to kid him a little and wound up crouched way back in his personal doghouse. I thought it exceedingly funny that somebody had snuck onto his properties down south and started a liquor still. I thought it was funny because as everybody knows B. M. Baruch is far and away the most respected citizen in the land, and such a stickler for strict attention to the letter of the law, that he goes out of his way even to obey some of the stupid ones. Apart from that, I have more personal respect and affection for the old gentleman, as friend and citizen, than for anyone I know.

Learns It Isn't Funny

So I write myself a piece about B.M.B., elder bootlegger, and laugh myself silly at my own delicious wit. I find I ain't funny, McGee. Not only have I affronted a man whose friendship I value, but a lot of people write in and say what is all this about booze and Baruch? I guess there are times when your own sense of humor gets so keen that you can fall down and stab yourself on it.

Believe me, citizens, our No. 1 statesman is not—repeat—not in the bootlegging business, nor does he cheat at canasta. Like I said I once knew a person so subtle he slipped in his own subtlety and busted his neck. That would seem to be me.

The business of dealing in humor that is not clearly marked seems to become more and more difficult. Either sarcasm or heavy-footed exaggeration seems more often than not to get misconstrued by serious-minded folk, and there are instances in which no man finds himself to be humorous, to himself.

I have never attempted to hurt anybody's feelings, except on purpose, and then the idea is to take the typewriter and beat the victim's brains out. But on several occasions I seem to have created an enemy or a gratuitous teardrop without intent. This I do not like in me.

Ruark Apologizes

My boss man has spent the last 30 years in this business hollering that subtlety is not a commodity to practice in newspapers, and I have spent the last 15 trying to prove him wrong. I think I may

Perkins Christmas Program Thursday At High School

PERKINS—A special Christmas program which the public is invited to attend will be given at the Perkins high school Thursday evening, December 20, at 8.

Two Christmas plays have been planned. One is "The Christmas Tree That Comes To Life," under the direction of Mrs. Lucille Fisher with the assistance of the grade school teachers, Miss Alice Dunsmore, Mrs. Jean Vogt and Mrs. Angeline Godin. The pianist will be George King of Escanaba. The story itself has been written by Mrs. Fisher.

The other is a one act play entitled "Re-union at Christmas" by the 11th and 12th grade speech class under the supervision of Robert Richards.

Cast for "The Christmas Tree That Came To Life," is as follows: First girl—Martha Hackenbruch; Rag doll—Judy Clausen; First boy

I believe I may say that I am more than ordinarily upset over this last prattfall of mine, since it concerns a neighbor who has given so generously of his time, advice and friendship. I certainly know that this is the first time since I started this business that I felt moved to sit down and spend two pages saying sorry, please don't be mad at me, chief.

I feel more or less today like a small boy who has just shot Santa Claus on Christmas, under the mistaken idea that he was a burglar.

And that is only a figure of speech, I hasten to add. I positively—repeat—positively did not intentionally shoot Santa Claus. Or a burglar either. I don't want any misconstructions on that one, or the kid lobby will be after me with a buggy whip.

Pine Camp Renamed To Honor General

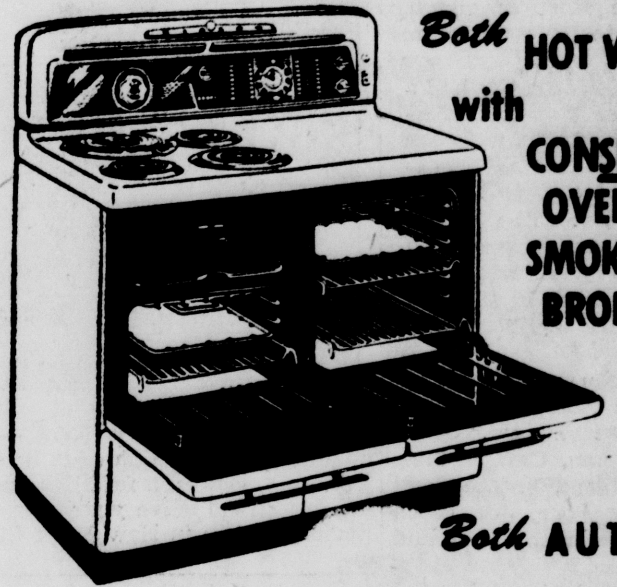

NEW YORK—(AP)—Pine Camp, an Army installation near Watertown, N. Y., has been renamed Camp Drum in honor of Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, the Department of the Army has announced.

Lt. Gen. Drum, who played a prominent role in the expansion of Pine Camp, died October 3. He was a former commanding general of the 1st Army and Eastern Defense Command with headquarters at Governors Island.

Camp Drum will be the scene of Exercise Snow Fall, a joint Army and Air Force maneuver, in January and February, 1952. With 30,000 troops participating, it will be the most extensive winter maneuver ever undertaken by the Army.

4-Team M-W Hockey Loop Is Foreseen

MARQUETTE—(Special)—With the Eagle River Falcons reportedly having difficulty procuring enough players within limitations agreed upon at the recent organization meeting in Houghton, a four-team Michigan-Wisconsin Hockey league appeared likely today.

That would be Marquette, Escanaba, Portage Lake and Calumet where teams are being organized for the start of regular league play during the Christmas holiday season.

Escanaba and Marquette had a joint practice session on artificial ice here last night with the rival squads opposing each other in three regulation 20-minute periods of play. The spirit shown by both sextets promised considerable fast and furious action when they clash in the first league game here this Thursday night.

Escanabans who got the kinks out for the first time were Ben Artwisch, George Petaja, Lolly Rose, Carl Eastman, Carlton Nelson, Dave Serbinski, Marc and Ted Olson, Guy Pöce, Joe Ricci, John Cortapassi, Neil Sinclair and Les Young.

Others expected to join the squad soon are Ed Broughton, Paul Gomeray, Gene Harris, Buddy Provo and the two Canadians, Walt and Cece Bechtold. Oddly enough, with the acquisition of young Cortapassi, the Hawks have four former Michigan Tech players on their team. Cortapassi, who works for the state highway department in the Escanaba area, is a former teammate of the Olsons and Ricci at Michigan Tech.

League President E. J. Schumacher informed Allan Olson and Jim Ward, members of the board of control of Marquette and Escanaba, respectively, that he had set December 24 as the deadline for Calumet, Eagle River and Portage Lake to file their first installment forfeit money. As yet, only Marquette and Escanaba have submitted the required forfeit fee. Portage Lake will start practice Wednesday, and Calumet is expected to get underway sometime this week.

Government Workers Of Doubtful Loyalty Come Up For Recheck

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The loyalty review board today reopened the cases of 565 federal employees for a recheck under the new rule that a "reasonable doubt" of loyalty is sufficient to bar employment.

That is the rule under which John S. Service, veteran diplomat who had been cleared repeatedly under former procedures, was fired by the state department last week after an adverse finding by the review board.

In Service's own case the review board emphasized that there was no finding of disloyalty—only "reasonable doubt." On that ground it reversed findings of the

Rotarians Host To Handicapped

Program Presented By Crippled Children

"Crippled and handicapped children in special education rooms of the Escanaba city schools today noon were luncheon guests of the Escanaba Rotary club at the Delta hotel.

The annual Christmas party for the youngsters was marked by a program presented by the boys and girls, with Billy Doucette master of ceremonies. Three children of the special rooms are now receiving treatment in hospitals and could not attend the party.

Songs, readings, and a playlet based on the poem "Wynken, Blynken and Nod" by Fields were given by the children. Each of the Rotarians also was presented with a Christmas greeting card made by the children.

Faculty members from the special rooms present for the program were Miss Eva Flemstrom, orthopedic; Miss Jane Lee Alexander, oral-deaf room; Miss Elizabeth Leiper, sight-saving; Clarence Moore, physical therapist; Cora Feltier, school nurse; and two American Red Cross "Grey Ladies" who are among several volunteer assistants—Mrs. Charles Neumeier and Mrs. John Gaufrin.

They were introduced by John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools. W. P. Schuldes, chairman of the Christmas cheer collections committee, expressed appreciation for the gifts from Rotarians.

Airliner Barely Misses Houses; 56 Persons Dead

so close to heavily congested cities."

Only a few weeks ago, Hand called a meeting to protest the thunder of low-flying planes from Newark airport—a noise that set terrified infants to wailing in their cribs at night.

At that time, Elizabeth residents threatened to form a human barrier with their bodies to block airport runways unless something was done.

The port of New York authority—which operates Newark airport—undertook to build a new runway to send planes over Newark Bay instead of Elizabeth.

Trouble At Takeoff
The crash seemed almost certain to arouse fear and anger in New York City across the Hudson river. There the port authority operates heavily used La Guardia field and Idlewild airport. And residents there have protested almost as strongly as in Elizabeth.

The non-scheduled airliner took off from Newark at 3:02 p. m. (EST) for Tampa and Miami. An non-scheduled airline flies at irregular intervals, usually when it gets a full load.

It crashed seven minutes later, in this city of more than 100,000 persons about 100 miles from New York.

It was the first crash in 22 months of an non-scheduled airliner.

The plane seemed to be in trouble even before it left the ground. Its right engine belched black smoke. Emergency ground crews were alerted for trouble. But the plane got off the runway sluggishly.

Besides Lyons, the plane carried two co-pilots, J. R. Mason and Edward Lilly, both of Miami. The stewardess, Doris Helms, also was from Miami. Lyons, who learned to fly when he was 16, was an instructor at Riddle Airfield near Clewiston, Fla., during the Second World War.

Most of the passengers were from New Jersey and New York. A few were from New England, as far north as Maine. Some were returning to their homes in Florida.

Despite an annoying delay of hours in the takeoff, passengers were gay as they trooped aboard for Christmas holidays in the south.

Coldest of Year
The first body brought out of the 30 foot high pile of wreckage was the pitiful, broken form of a tiny baby.

Some women passengers still clutched purses as city officials joined firemen to bear the bodies out on litters. Priests moved into the shambles, giving posthumous rites of the church to all passengers, on the chance that some were catholic.

Severe 20-degree cold—the worst in the East this year—froze hoses as firemen played water on the smouldering wreckage. Their feet were braced unsteadily on the snow encrusted ground.

Only the tail of the plane remained partially intact, jutting like a monument over the blackened, twisted, smoking scene.

Corpses were laboriously edged up the icy, slippery sides of the ravine as daylight gave way to darkness. Searchlights were brought in to bathe the scene in a sickening, unnatural glare.

Atop the riverbank, the bodies were laid out in rows beneath blankets on the frozen ground.

Free Nations Blame Russia For Need Of Mid-East Command

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States, Britain, France and Turkey reportedly have agreed to tell Russia in plain language that it is responsible for the efforts of free nations to form a free military command in the middle East.

Russia protested to the four powers several weeks ago that the proposed command was an aggressive agency threatening

Soviet security. American officials at the time said the charge was nonsense.

Pact Is Voluntary
Since then there have been exchanges of view among the capitals of the four nations sponsoring the Middle East command and notes have been prepared for delivery to the Soviet foreign office. Announcement of the action is expected within a day or so.

Diplomatic informants said the four powers will emphasize that the command is a voluntary organization, and that once it is created it will be thoroughly cooperative in nature—to such an extent that the troops of one member nation could not be moved into another without specific permission.

The Russians are also being told that they are in a poor position to criticize any joining of powers for defensive purposes since it is international Communism's record of conduct in the Middle East, against Turkey and Greece particularly, that has created the circumstances in which other nations now find it desirable to unify their defense efforts.

Progress Slow
It was learned that actual progress in organization of the command has been very slow for many weeks and probably will continue to be so for several months.

The United States, Britain, France and Turkey have not been able to agree in detail on the particular kind of organization which should be created or exactly what areas it should cover.

It was learned that the Turks, contrary to original American planning, have insisted that they should in some respects come under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command of North Atlantic Treaty forces in Western Europe when they become members of the Atlantic alliance.

Reds Claim Two Islands Retaken In Yellow Sea

SEOUL—(AP)—The North Korean Red radio tonight said Communist troops yesterday recaptured two Yellow Sea islands off the west coast of Korea.

A communique broadcast from Pyongyang, the Red capital, and mentioned here said Communist troops killed, wounded or captured 174 U. N. soldiers in the amphibious operation.

There was no confirmation from U. N. sources.

The broadcast said the islands are Cho, off the Chinnampo peninsula, and Yuk, near the Ongjin peninsula.

The Reds retook three other islands off northwest Korea about two weeks ago. The U. N. command confirmed that.

HERMANSVILLE—The Leo Floriano Post 340 of the American Legion Christmas party for the children of Meyer Township will be held Thursday, December 20 at 8 p. m. at the club house instead of Friday, December 21, it was announced today by Alex Framarin, commander.

Post members will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday night to package the candy and the program will be completed Wednesday evening with the erection of the community tree.

Donations include, B. A. R. E. fund, $15.00, First National Bank, $10.00, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Langerhausen, $10.00 and Bella Venezia Lodge, $5.00. The list will be completed by Thursday.

Prices Can Be Kept Down, Says DiSalle

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Director Michael V. DiSalle of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) says he is confident "we'll do a pretty good job" in holding prices down next year.

He declined to predict the annual percentage of any increase, recalling that a year ago he had guessed there would be a 5 per cent rise but the cost of living actually went up only about 3 per cent.

Appearing on a CBS television program, DiSalle said control of food prices is the most difficult phase of the program but that anticipated record production should make the task a little easier.

Statue Of Joe Stalin Unveiled In Budapest

BUDAPEST, Hungary—(AP)—A bronze statue of Joseph Stalin, 26½ feet tall and mounted on a stone pedestal 32¼ feet high, was unveiled here yesterday. It considerably dwarfs a nearby statue of George Washington.

The ceremony was part of a series of tributes to the Soviet prime minister in celebration of his 72nd birthday next Friday.

The official Hungarian Communist newspaper, Szabad Nep, in an editorial called Stalin "the greatest figure of Hungarian history."

To make room for the huge statue several buildings were demolished. One was a Roman Catholic church.

Michigan Shivers Through 3 Days

The nation's death toll has reached 117.

Two Michigan fires were fought in bitter temperatures.

Early today a $10,000 blaze swept the interior of a moving picture house in the village of Remus, 20 miles west of Mt. Pleasant in Mecosta county.

Born In Showbank
No one was injured. The blaze was discovered at 2 a. m. by the village watchman. By that time the Sunday night show had long been at an end.

Four families lost all their household possessions in an apartment house blaze at Owosso Sunday. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

The weekend turned up with a "snowbank baby."

This is Evelyn Joan Tidwell, who came into the world in a snowbank beside Lee Memorial hospital in Dowagiac.

The mother, Mrs. Ray Tidwell, was being taken to the hospital by her husband Sunday. Their car turned over on a curve on the hospital grounds. Mrs. Tidwell was thrown out.

With the aid of Mother Mary Timothy, hospital superintendent, Evelyn Joan was born in the snowbank.

Crisis In Steel Wage Talks Near

wage boost unless it gets price relief.

Negotiations, begun Nov. 27 on a new contract for workers now earning an average of about $1.95, made no progress. Murray's answer was to summon the USW executive board and wage policy committee.

The 36 man executive board is composed of three international officers and 33 district directors. It is the policy making group. The 170-man wage policy committee, composed of the board plus local union representatives, is the ratifying agency of the USW.

The government moved into the steel situation shortly after Murray summoned his advisors. Two top mediators came here to talk to both sides. They reported back to the U. S. Mediation Service that the situation was serious and a strike possible.

Their report brought an invitation to move future negotiations to Washington. No action was taken on the proposal and the next bargaining session is scheduled for Pittsburgh tomorrow.

Wall Street

By RICHARD FISKE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Prices were a fairly even mixture of gains and losses today in a stock market that showed few signs of life.

Trading was very slow and most price changes were in small fractions. Activity fell back even from the only moderate pace of the opening within the first half hour.

There were no especially strong or weak sections of the market. The mixed tendencies extended through about every major group.

Most of the metal mining stocks, however, were ahead. Small factions, including home-take, Mc Intyre and International Nickel.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel were up a little and Chrysler and Studebaker were ahead fractions. Goodrich rubber was up a fraction but Goodyear and U. S. Rubber were down a similarly small figure.

Other advances included Boeing Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical, American Woolen, New York Central and Standard Oil (N.J.). The declines included Montgomery Ward, Philco, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Pan American Airways and General Electric.

On the Bond Market corporates were mixed and narrow with activity light. U. S. governments were firm.

The star survey being made at the Palomar Observatory in California will number the stars and systems of stars out to a distance of 350 million light years.

Bright Future Seen For Great Lakes Ore Fleet

A bright future for shipping on the Great Lakes was painted today by Carl B. Jacobs, raw materials and fleet manager of Inland Steel company. Jacobs told a Chicago regional technical meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute that there is rapid expansion ahead for the lake fleet which now carries more tonnage in eight months than all foreign traffic of United States ocean ports in a year.

No other form of transportation can compete with lake ships in efficient movement of bulk materials, Jacobs said. He also said that ore reserves will last far beyond the physical life of any present ships on the lakes now that concentration of low-grade ores into a shippable product is reaching the commercial stage.

To emphasize the efficiency of lake ships for handling bulk cargoes on long hauls, Jacobs cited the $1.45 a ton rate for an 800-mile iron ore haul. Nowhere else on earth can a ton of bulk material be moved so far for so little, he said.

This efficiency is built into the long, lean, blunt-nosed lake vessels, Jacobs said, describing them as more like dachshunds than the greyhounds of ocean lanes.

Bigger Ships Needed
More ore hauling ability is needed, however, to match the expansion of the steel industry's blast furnaces, the speaker said, and he outlined several ways it is being accomplished.

New ships that are bigger and faster is one answer, he said, explaining that the average lake freighter is 40 years old, carries about 11,300 tons and travels at 11.5 miles an hour so as to require a week for a round trip between the head of the lakes and lower lake ports.

Today, Jacobs said, 14 ships of the "Wilfred Sykes" class are on order and expected in operation by 1953. The "Sykes," flagship of the Inland fleet, makes a round trip in five days, carrying in excess of 20,000 tons a trip, and for the 1951 season, its first full one, floated a total of 828,000 gross tons.

Conversion of ocean-going freighters is another method of increasing the capacity of the lake ore fleet, Jacobs said. He added that the "Cliffs Victory" and the "Tom Girdler," two converted freighters that joined the lakes trade this year, are proving their worth. Their greater power and finer lines enable them to travel faster than any ships built for Great Lakes service and their success could materially influence design on the lakes in future years, Jacobs said.

Among other trends in shipbuilding, Jacobs mentioned the several large and fast self-unloading boats now on order. It is conceivable, he said, that fast unloaders capable of discharging 5,000 tons an hour will be designed and built to carry the product of the taconite concentrating plants. Self-unloaders are now mostly engaged in the limestone and coal trade, he explained.

New Power Plants
Material handling facilities at both loading and unloading docks can, in Jacobs' opinion, stretch fleet capacities by cutting in-port time.

Repowering existing ships with new propulsion plants is paying off in more cargo carried at greater speeds and less fuel cost, he said, citing an Inland experience in installing Diesel electric power in a 40-year old hull.

Navigational aids are speeding shipments as well as improving safety, Jacobs said. Radar has been very effective, he said, in reducing delays, especially in the Spring and Fall fog seasons. It permits ships to move in all but the tightest spots with speed and safety, he said, and when used with radio direction finder, gyroscopic compass and radio telephone, has been a valuable aid.

To the fear expressed in some quarters that construction of the St. Lawrence waterway would bring low-priced foreign competition to lake shipping, Jacobs countered that it would merely lengthen the route of the lake ships. With little modification they could travel the waterway to pick up Labrador ore, giving them an expanded trade, he said, whereas few ocean vessels because of their deep draft would venture into the lakes where there are many shallow channels.

Span Of Life Is On Increase

NEW YORK—Life in the United States is safest at ages nine and ten, according to life insurance statisticians, and less safe during the first year than at any age to and including 65.

This is based upon an analysis by the statisticians of mortality data for the general population in 1949, as reported by the National Office of Vital Statistics.

An all-time high of 67.6 years in expectation of life at birth registered during the year represents a gain of fully 4 years since 1940, the statisticians note, and a gain of 18 1/2 years since the start of the century.

Women Live Longer

The greatest gains in life expectation, it is pointed out, have been at the early ages. At birth the gain in life expectation for males during the decade has been more than three years, whereas at age 40 the increase was less than a year.

"This reflects the strides made in the control of the infections of early life," the statisticians explain, "in contrast to the limited progress which has been made in the control of the chronic diseases of middle and later life. Then, too, with an unchanged life span limit of about 100 years, the closer that limit is reached the smaller is the margin left for gain."

The answer—they dine wisely but not too well. Plum pudding and mince pie with cheese at the end of a procession. Oyster soup to begin with, then turkey bursting with chestnuts, giblet gravy and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes rich and fluffy, Brussels sprouts and onions agleam with butter.

Good, isn't it? It is a little heavy, you'll admit. But how about getting in some lighter and refreshing touches—a poinsettia grapefruit half at the beginning, for example. It's a beautiful sight decorated with red apple slices and puts no strain on the waistline.

With the turkey, a Florida Christmas relish—a raw and refreshing—is a light-hearted suggestion. It can be made in advance and kept several weeks, leaving time at the last minute to wrap up the presents or help Johnny wind up his new train.

Tangerines, the delicious citrus fruit, always get invited to every Christmas celebration. But just to get an extra chuckle from Santa and to add one more delicate touch to the family feast, why not bake them with spices and march them in with the turkey?

To prepare, cut grapefruit in half; remove core if desired. Cut around each section, loosening fruit from membrane. Do not cut around entire outer edge of fruit. Leave red peel on apple, cut in thin wedge-shaped slices; cut each slice in half. Press five or six apple slices between grapefruit sections to resemble poinsettia. Place cherry in center.

Florida Christmas Relish (1 quart)

Four cups cranberries, 2 oranges, quartered and seeded, 2 cups sugar.

Put raw cranberries and oranges through food chopper. Add sugar and mix well. Chill in refrigerator several hours before serving. For Christmas garnish spoon raw relish in center of Florida orange slices. NOTE: This relish will keep well in the refrigerator for several weeks.

Baked Tangerines (6 servings)

Six Florida tangerines, 2 tablespoons seedless raisins, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, dash of salt, 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine, 3-4 cup Florida orange juice.

Make five vertical cuts in the tangerine skin from the blossom end to about 1 inch from the bottom; then peel down and turn the pointed ends in. Remove white membrane. Loosen tangerine sections at the center and pull apart slightly; set in shallow baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients except orange juice, and pour over all and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 15 minutes, basting during baking. Serve as an accompaniment with meat.

Bitter medicine

The administration of medicine to youngsters often poses problems which only parents can understand. To win co-operation from a finicky child sometimes requires the patience of Job and the persuasion of Paul. The taste of modern pharmaceuticals, however, is greatly improved over the intensely bitter preparations used a few decades ago. Distasteful drugs are carefully masked by sugar-coatings, capsules, syrups, and other pleasing vehicles. To provide medicine in palatable form is the pharmacist's art. This is of primary concern here. Naturally, we cannot guarantee that all prescriptions will be pleasing to the taste, but we do our very best to make them so.

Care With Yule Trees Is Urged

Fire Chief Lists Rules To Follow

Because Christmas trees in the home are a definite fire hazard, every possible precaution should be taken, it is pointed out by Elmer Boal, chief of the Manistique fire department.

Tests by underwriters' laboratories prove that Christmas trees are easily ignited and burn swiftly, he said.

"Extreme caution is needed", he said, "when this fire hazard is in your home".

As an aid in avoiding fires during the holiday season, the fire chief lists the following rules:

Choose a small tree. It will be less hazardous.

Wait until a few days before Christmas to set up your tree.

Keep the tree outdoors until ready to set it up.

Place the tree in the coolest part of the house.

If a radiator is near the tree, shut it off.

Do not use cotton or paper decorations unless they are flame proofed.

Place the base of the tree in a container of water.

Do not place electric toys, such as trains, around the tree.

Do not use candles. Use electric lights instead.

Make certain wires are not frayed. Choose lighting sets bearing marking which indicates listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

Do not plug or unplug the lights beneath the tree.

Do not leave tree lights burning when no one is in the house.

If needles near lights turn brown, change the location of the lights.

When needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it.

Following the above suggestions, the fire chief points out, will go a long way toward keeping your "Christmas merry."

Two Local Men Are Air ROTC Freshmen At Michigan Tech

Two Manistique young men have been accepted as freshmen in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Sault Ste. Marie, it is announced.

They are George Babladelis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander N. Babladelis, 154 North Cedar street, and Leon W. Linderoth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Linderoth, 145 North Houghton avenue.

Students enrolled in this course will be instructed in various phases of air force procedure during their four years of college studies. The air force ROTC courses are offered in conjunction with the regular college curriculum and equal credits are granted for college graduation. In addition to this the ROTC cadets are furnished with textbooks, training materials and uniforms free of charge.

Five Persons Kept Books For Far-Flung Company Operations

(By W. S. CROWE)

To keep the books, and do the "paper work" for the Chicago and Weston Lumber companies with a payroll of 1200 to 1500 men, cutting around 100 million feet yearly, and their 27 retail departments dealing in every item except drugs, whiskey, and fresh meat required by Schoolcraft county's 7000 people isolated from the outside world four months in the year, we had an office force of five people—a head bookkeeper, pay roll bookkeeper, assistant bookkeeper, stenographer, (Miss Riggs), and a "time boy" whose job was to collect the sales slips, cash, coupons, and time books from the stores and foremen. This route covered the east and west sides of the river from the "Main Boom" (present Federal Nursery) to the docks, and have them in the office by 10:00 a. m.

The general office was a room about 30 feet square. A flat top counter separated working space and public lobby. Doors—always wide open—led from the lobby and the working space into the directors' room where Mr. Orr, woods superintendent, and Mr. Quick, superintendent of the mills and yards, each had roll top desks. J. D. Mersereau, secretary-treasurer, had his roll top desk in the working space with one end next the counter, directly accessible at all times to the public and the office force.

Owned Phone Company

The assistant bookkeeper and "time boy" worked in a side room off the main office which also housed the telephone switchboard with its 30 "drops", most of them to the company's own departments, and "tending central" was part of their job.

The Manistique Telephone Co., wholly owned by the Chicago Lumbering Co., was just a debit account on their ledger, less than $1500.00, the total capital investment. It kept growing and the C. L. Co. incorporated it about 1896-97 with capital stock of $5000.00, paying themselves a $3500.00 dividend. My brother Dean purchased $500.00 of the stock at par, managed the company for 10 months, then sold his stock for $1400.00 and went west to engage in the telephone business on a larger scale in Oregon. The company continued to grow, paying big dividends and financing itself almost entirely from earnings until O. G. Quick sold it in 1928 to outside brokers for $45,000.00. Promoters capitalized it for several times that amount, sold preferred stock to Manistique residents and kept the common. The company is now a unit in the Michigan Associated Telephone Co.

We also kept the books of the Manistique & Northwestern Ry. Co. which the Chicago Lumbering Co. built in 1896 at a cost of $250,000.00 and made a profit of $200,000.00 the first year, mostly hauling company logs from Steuben to the "Dump" near Manistique at the same rate it was costing to drive them down the Indian and across Indian lake. The C. L. Co. sold the road in 1901 to Dan Kaufman of Marquette for $500,000.00 who built a big car ferry for around $1,000,000.00 which the railroad operated for some years between Manistique and Northport, making the trip in less than five hours. Since Kaufman bought it, the road has had a checkered career, control resting here and there, and it is now part of the Ann Arbor system.

Used Typewriter

The only mechanical device in the office was a Remington "invisible" typewriter with an inch wide purple copying ribbon, and a "copy press" with which all outgoing letters were copied in an indexed "letter book". No carbon copies, card indexes, vertical files, calculators, bookkeeping or adding machines, or loose leaf records of any kind. To qualify as a bookkeeper, one had to be a good and rapid writer, quick and accurate with figures, and work, but I never did a tap of work in my life without trying to figure out some way to shorten it or eliminate it entirely, and I have never been out of a job.

The development of a nation's economy and way of life is analogous to that of the automobile. First this part and then that. First good roads. Then tires which would stand up. Then springs which wouldn't be continually breaking. Then a self starter. You couldn't run a modern car with the carburetor of that day. Every new gadget makes necessary an improvement to some other part of the machine. So it is with a nation's life. We have made astounding strides in our material world in the past 50 years, but our moral and spiritual development has lagged, or even perhaps deteriorated, and we will now have to catch up with that end of it or we will be ditched and perhaps destroyed by a wonderful machine we have created but seem unable to control.

With Ray Crandall

St. Joe's basketball superiority was most emphatically demonstrated last week . . . Trojan cagers beat Stephenson in four different basketball games during the week . . . Wednesday night the St. Joe girls trimmed the Stephenson girls 23-16 . . . In a preliminary to that game, Coach John Baker's St. Joe seventh-eighth grade team beat the Eagle juniors 43-18 . . . And Saturday night the St. Joe varsity posted its 76-41 verdict while the reserves walked off with a 50-34 decision.

At halftime in the St. Joe-Stephenson game here Saturday night, coaches and officials gathered in Coach Tom St. Germain's office for a breather . . . As we were hustling back up for the third quarter, we heard Coach Tom St. Germain of St. Joe and Coach Steve Baltic of Escanaba exchange greetings . . . "I'm sure glad we're not playing Escanaba tonight," the St. Joe mentor said, expressing dissatisfaction with his team's performance in the first half . . . "Do you mean this is a BAD night?" the Eskey coach retorted, no doubt viewing the St. Joe 32-15 halftime lead as quite comfortable.

Understand that Coach Don Dufresne will lose one of his best reserve players this week . . . Coach St. Germain announced that Bill Maycunich, regular end in football, will make the big move up to the varsity . . . Billy Wells, Menominee's gift to Michigan State College's undefeated football team, is home for the Christmas holidays . . . He spoke at a dinner honoring St. John's grade school football champions last week . . . Back in Escanaba after playing for Vanderbilt's grid squad last season is Jack Miron, former St. Joe star.

Note to Frank Duboski: Barney McCosky of the Cincinnati Reds batted .320 during the past baseball season . . . He was at bat 50 times in 25 games, got 16 hits, scored two runs and batted in 11 . . . Official figures on the 1951 baseball season reveal that Stan Musial, St. Louis, led the National League batsmen for the fifth time in his career with a mark of .355 . . . He now ranks third behind John H. Wagner, who led the National eight times and Rogers Hornsby who won the batting championship seven times.

Musial, with Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, tied for scoring the most runs, 124; hit for the most total bases, 355, and with David Bell of Pittsburgh tied for the most triples, 12 . . . Musial tied a major league record and set a new National mark for leading in three-base hits for the fifth time . . . He also extended his National League record for scoring 100 or more runs for the eight consecutive year.

Lions Fail In Title Bid, Rams Are National Champs

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — When the chips were down, the Detroit Lions didn't have what it took to win.

So the Los Angeles Rams, whom they beat a week ago, are champions of the National conference of the National Football league instead of the Lions.

Needing a win or a tie for the division championship, the Lions went into their game with the San Francisco 49ers here Sunday favored by 7½ points. When it was over, the 49ers had won convincingly, 21-17.

The Rams, meanwhile, whipped the Green Bay Packers, 42-14, and will meet the Cleveland Browns, American conference winners, for the pro football championship at Los Angeles next Sunday.

A half-game behind at the start of Sunday's games, the Rams couldn't have won the title without a Detroit defeat. The 49ers attended to that.

8-4 Record
The Lions ended the season with a record of seven wins, four losses and a tie. The Rams won eight and lost four.

If they're going to single out "goats," they can pick the whole Detroit punting team. Every last one of them had a swipe at Rookie Halfback Joe Arenas as he scampered 51 yards on a punt return late in the final period to set up the winning touchdown for the 49ers.

The entire defensive platoon of the Lions was caught flat-footed as Quarterback Y. A. Tittle bootlegged the ball around their left end for the winning touchdown from the one-yard line. Tittle wasn't touched as the Lions tore to their right—the direction in which all the 49ers, except Mr. Tittle, also ran.

Interceptions of Bobby Layne passed led to two 49ers touchdowns and broke up a Detroit scoring threat.

The Lions started off like champions.

Lead 10-0
Fullback Pat Harder booted a 13-yard field goal the first time the Lions got the ball. Then the Detroiters pushed to a 10-0 lead as Harder climaxed a 41-yard drive with a one-yard plunge for a touchdown and Doak Walker kicked the first of his two conversions.

Shortly thereafter Lowell Wagner intercepted Quarterback Layne's pass and scampered back 13 yards to the Detroit 47. After working to the 32, Fullback Joe Perry hit End Billy Wilson on the goal line for the first 49er touchdown.

Wagner returned 26 yards with his second interception of a Layne toss. Tittle climaxed the foray by hitting End Gordon Soltau on the goal line and he went over. Soltau's second of three conversions gave San Francisco a 14-10 halftime lead, although the Lions made a desperate attempt to worm ahead again before intermission.

A Layne-to-Walker pass gained 63 yards and one from Layne to Harder carried 12 to the nine. Three Layne passes then fell incomplete and Harder missed a field goal from an angle from 16 yards out. The 49ers then took over on their 20, two plays before the halftime whistle.

The Lions pounded, and passed

Junie McMahon, Marion Ladewig All-Star Champs

CHICAGO—(AP)—Junie McMahon, who lives in Fairlawn, N. J., but bowls out of Chicago, and Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., are repeating champions of the National All-Star tournament.

The husky, 39-year-old McMahon, winner of the 1949 meet and a sixth place finisher last year, bagged the 1951 title last night and the $2,000 prize that goes with it.

The All-Star championship, however, will be worth much more to McMahon in money from testimonials, exhibitions, etc.

Mrs. Ladewig, winning her third straight women's crown, also will cash in much more than the $600 prize she received.

Fast Finish

McMahon, leading by only 0.22 of a Peterson point entering his final four games against Bill Lillard of Chicago, fired 905 to Lillard's 847 to wind up with a total of 309.29 points to 305.41 for the Chicagoan.

McMahon clustered his points under the Petersen system based on games won and lost and pins spilled. He won 41 and lost 23, knocking down 13,429 pins for a 209.8 average.

Mrs. Ladewig finished with more than a 10 point spread over second-place Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia. The totals were 159.17 to 148.03.

Trojans Trounce Stephenson 76 To 41 For Fourth Straight

The Stephenson Eagles put three men on Pete Kutches here Saturday night and the St. Joe scoring ace shifted his tactics to feed a pair of team mates who melted the hoop with radar-like medium long shots as the Trojans waltzed to a 76-41 victory.

Kutches opened in the center slot but found three defenders sticking like flypaper under the basket. Guard John Martinac and Forward Bill Baker received a steady stream of fast passes from the other Trojan cagers and responded by pelting the net from all angles.

Baker chunked in eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points while Martinac rang the bell with seven baskets and a gift toss for 15.

Held To 10

Kutches, who had been scoring at a 33-point-per-game pace, failed to register a field goal until the third period when he tapped in two. The close-guarding Eagles fouled Kutches repeatedly, however, and he added six of seven free throws for a 10-point total.

In posting their fourth straight win of the current campaign the Trojans ran their point total to 301—an average of 75 per game. Coach Tom St. Germain emptied his bench early in the fourth period and the Trojan reserves scored the last 14 St. Joe points.

Stephenson stepped out to a 4-0 lead on the speedy Trojan cagers in the opening minute of the game. But with Jim Gravelle and Kutches starring in rebound play, the Trojans shifted into high gear and had a 15-9 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Trojans stepped up the pace in the second period in which Martinac found the range for three straight field goals. At halftime St. Joe led 32-15.

Scoring Spurt

The opening minutes of the third period saw the Trojans put on a terrific scoring spurt. In the first five minutes of the quarter the St. Joe boys pegged 19 points through the hoop and they scored 28 in the period. Jerry McDonough replaced Bob Sendenburgh in the third period and contributed two field goals.

All St. Joe starters returned to the bench in the fourth quarter and action was turned over to McDonough, Dick Cass, Tom Millington, Don LeGault, Tom Brien and Jim Zimmerman.

Stephenson reserves sprinkled in during the final period and the Eagles had their best showing of the game, scoring 15 points to 16 for St. Joe.

Trojan Bees Win

Harold "Swede" Anderson, big Stephenson center, took an early shower with five personal fouls. Top scorer for Stephenson was Don Hedin, forward, who hit an even dozen points. The loss was the third straight for Coach Walter Schousen's Eagles.

Coach Don Dufresne's Trojan Bees swept to their fourth straight victory in the preliminary, drubbing the Stephenson Bee team 50-34.

St. Joe rests until Dec. 26 when the Trojans enter competition in the annual Parochial school cage tournament at Marquette.

Spartans Cop Third Straight Cage Win

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan State had its third basketball win in as many starts under its belt today as it started preparations for its invasion of the University of Detroit Tuesday night.

With Ricky Ayala, who stands only five-foot five-inches, and Keith Stackhouse leading the way, the Spartans disposed of Marquette 53-48 at Milwaukee Saturday night.

Ayala, a guard, poured in nine points in the second quarter to help MSC to a lead it never relinquished. Stackhouse was high scorer of the night with 16 points.

Top College Cage Games This Week

NEW YORK — (AP)—The top attraction of the young college basketball season is the dish at Lexington's coliseum tonight when Kentucky and St. John's of Brooklyn clash in a game matching the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 ranked teams.

The event headlines a full slate of pre-Christmas activity featuring another game between tenets of the Associated Press' top ten. The St. Louis Billikens, fourth-ranked, are host Wednesday night to Washington, No. 6.

Things are not as rosy with Adolph Rupp's national champions at Kentucky as a year ago when the Wildcats beat St. John's at Madison Square Garden, 43-37.

One Loss Already

The Wildcats, who rarely lose, have dropped one decision already—a 61-57 loss to Minnesota last week.

Besides, the team's seven-foot pivot star, Bill Spivey, is on the ailing list and a New York assistant district attorney is in Lexington hinting of new scandal exposures. Nobody has named names.

Rupp's mountain marksmen probably will have to have their sights razor-sharp if they are to avoid a second setback.

St. John's has a fast, smart team built around Big Bob Zawoluk. It has won five straight games.

Zawoluk is one of three returning regulars from the squad good enough to hang up a 22-3 record in regular season play last season. The others are Jack McMahon, a crack set shot, and Ronnie McGilvray, a speedy floorsman.

Kentucky won't be suffering from lack of experience. Five lettermen are back from last year's championship team but the loss of Spivey has weakened its backboard strength.

Kentucky plays DePaul Thursday. St. John's has a Saturday date in New York with Vanderbilt.

Coming Games

Washington has a rough week. After playing St. Louis Wednesday, the Huskies take on Minnesota on Friday and Saturday nights.

Illinois No. 3, plays Oklahoma, North Carolina and DePaul. Kansas State, No. 5, is at Hamline

Monday and then meets Indiana in a top game Saturday.

Seton Hall, No. 7, takes on Tempe State Wednesday and Scranton Saturday. Eighth-ranked Kansas plays Rice Tuesday and Southern Cal Saturday. Ninth-ranked LaSalle is idle but North Carolina State, No. 10, meets George Washington Tuesday and Manhattan Thursday.

The defeat of Columbia, unbeaten in regular season play last year, featured the nearly 200 major games Saturday night. The Lions were beaten by Pittsburgh in a rousing game, 65-64, at dedication of Pitt's new gymnasium.

St. John's and Seton Hall won a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden. St. John's prevailed over Rhode Island State, 82-62, while Seton Hall beat Iona (NY), 70-60.

A mild surprise saw St. Joseph's take the measure of Texas Tech, which had previously surprised North Carolina State, 62-58, at Philadelphia Convention hall.

New York University won its ninth straight game, rallying to repel Cornell, 58-52. Ohio State was given a big scare by Butler, but won 75-74, on Paul Ebert's last-minute foul shot.

Illini Rose Bowl Party To Arrive Today In Pasadena

CHICAGO—(AP)—Illinois' official Rose Bowl party of 73, including 44 gridgers, is scheduled to arrive in Pasadena tomorrow to begin 10 days of final preparations for the New Year's Day game with Stanford.

Coaches and their wives and other team attendants accompanied the 44-man player squad when it left Chicago by train yesterday.

Coach Ray Eliot plans to hold a public practice session after arrival tomorrow. This will be primarily for West Coast newspaper and radio men. Thereafter, practices will be held behind closed gates.

Some six billion checks are printed annually to supply the need for this handy substitute for cash.

Wolverine Frosh Sets New Swimming Record

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Burwell (Bumpy) Jones, Michigan's sensational freshman swimmer, holds a new University of Michigan pool and a state AAU record for the 440-yard free style swim.

Jones did the distance in 4:14.4 in capturing the event in the state AAU championships here Saturday night. The old pool record was 4:42.1.

Ron Gora and Wally Jeffries, both Michigan students, finished in that order behind Jones.

Red Wings Trip Rangers 3 To 1 To Stretch Lead

NEW YORK—(AP)—The reason the Detroit Red Wings are making a runaway of the National Hockey league race is that they're tougher on foreign ice than at home.

The Red Wings have played 13 games on the road and haven't dropped a decision. Their record on enemy rinks is ten victories and three ties compared with seven wins, four losses and four ties in Detroit.

The Detroiters improved their road record last night, beating the New York Rangers, 3-1 at Madison Square Garden. It was the Wings' fifth straight victory to push eight points ahead of the second place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Maple Leafs dropped a weird verdict to the Chicago Black Hawks. Ahead 3-0 after the first period, the Leafs saw the Hawks rally to win the game, 4-2.

Canadiens In Third

In the other game, the Montreal Canadiens moved into a third-place tie with Boston by whipping the Bruins, 4-2, at Boston.

Detroit spaced a goal in each period before a crowd of 12,715 in New York. Metro Prystai nudged in a counter in each of the first two periods and the third was a deflected shot by Marty Pavelich. Paul Ronty scored for New York late in the game.

Red Wing Goalie Terry Sawchuk shut out Chicago, 3-0 Saturday night, and seemed on his way to another whitewash when Ronty got a screened shot past him at 17:20 of the final period.

A crowd of 12,715 saw the one-sided contest.

Detroit goes to Boston tomorrow night to try to run the victory string to six games.

Dick Gamble's two goals paced Montreal's attack at Boston, where 7,186 turned out. Bill Mosienko scored the winning goal for Chicago at 6:54 in the third period after the Hawks had counted three times in the middle period to wipe out Toronto's lead.

U. S. Tennis List Rates Trabert, Connolly Tops

NEW YORK—(AP)—Tony Trabert, 21, and Maureen Connolly, 17, head the tentative U. S. tennis rankings for 1951—among the youngest players in history to be named for the honor.

The men's and women's lists were submitted over the weekend by the ranking committees. They must be approved by the U. S. Lawn Tennis association at its general meeting next month.

The committee recommendations normally are adopted, in toto, but there have been exceptions. This is one year when the men's list particularly may undergo a change.

The showing of United States Davis Cup stars in Australia may affect the final standings.

Navy Man
Trabert, former Cincinnati athlete now on leave from the Navy, was given the No. 1 ranking in the men's division although he only went as far as the semi-finals in the National championships at Forest Hills. But he carried the ultimate winner, Australia's Frank Sedgman, to five sets.

Trabert was rated over Philadelphia's Vic Seixas, who was runner-up to Sedgman, and also over Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., who won the Wimbledon and Australian championships.

Seixas was ranked second and Savitt third. They, like Trabert, have been named to the Davis Cup team which will challenge for the trophy Dec. 26.

There should be no question of the women's rankings, which followed form.

Gladstone will be seeking its second win in five starts. The Braves copped a 37-33 opening win over Bark River and then lost three straight outings to St. Joe, Manistique and Munising.

Escanaba has two wins and a loss thus far this season. Coach Steve Baltics decided Marquette and Iron Mountain before dropping a 53-38 verdict to the tough Ishpeming Hematites last weekend.

Final This Year
Lineups on both quints are expected to remain the same. For Escanaba, Paul Baldwin will be at center with Paul Gunderman and Tom Smith at forwards and Jo Johnston and Jim Heiden at guards.

The game marks the final appearance for both teams this year. Escanaba resumes action Jan. 8 at Stephenson while Gladstone travels to meet the same foe Jan. 11.

Bee teams of the two schools will tangle in a preliminary at the Junior high gym at 7 tomorrow night. The main game begins at 8:30.

Officials will be Norman Slough of Rapid River and Ray Ranguette of Manistique.

U. P. Golden Gloves Tournament Will Be Held Here On Jan. 25-26

The 1952 Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves championship tournament will be held here Jan. 25-26 at the Escanaba Junior high school gymnasium.

The tournament is again under the co-sponsorship of the Escanaba Lions club and the Daily Press.

Ken L. Gunderman is tournament manager.

Tournament officials are aiming for a 40-bout program for the two nights. Entries are expected from Sault Ste. Marie, Manistique, Menominee-Marquette, Ne-gaunee, Iron River and Caspian, Marquette and Escanaba.

Champions will be crowned in eight classes in both open and novice divisions. Tourney winners here will represent the Upper Peninsula in the Milwaukee Golden Gloves tournament.

Milwaukee Tourney
U. P. champions will enter the Milwaukee tournament Monday, Jan. 28 in the semi-final. The Escanaba winners will stay over after the championship matches

Musial Official Barring Champion Of National Loop

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Stan (The Man) Musial has a new silver bat for his trophy case.

The St. Louis Cardinal outfielder won the National League batting crown for 1951—the second consecutive year he's been the top hitter in the senior circuit.

No one else has managed to win the crown two years running since Rogers (Rajah) Hornsby made a habit of it with the Cardinals from 1920 through 1925.

Silver bats are awarded annually to the champions.

Official National League batting statistics released yesterday show Musial atop the list with a .355 average.

The 1951 championship is the fifth award won by Musial. The other four were won in 1943 (.357), 1946 (.365), 1948 (.367) and 1950 (.346).

Grid Glamor Is Thick In Lineup For North-South

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)—Two All-America performers and 46 other gridiron glamor gents roll into this city this week to get ready for the fanciest Blue-Gray game in history.

When workouts start Saturday, rival coaches will have just seven days to whip their squads into shape for the Dec. 29 encounter.

The legislature appropriated the money to advertise the game and to dramatize it with a pageant symbolizing the friendly competition between the gray-clad rebels and their once-hostile Yankee neighbors.

However, the Yanks certainly don't aim to use the 60 minutes of playing time as a means of showing their appreciation for the southern hospitality extended to them.

Only Four Wins
With a record of only four wins in 12 previous appearances, it's a bit difficult to see how they could be optimistic unless you consider:

1. A defensive line averaging 218 pounds and featuring All-America Pat O'Donahue from Wisconsin; Little All-America line backer Tito Carinci from Xavier of Ohio and Tackle George Young of Bucknell, and three bruisers from Michigan State, second ranking team in the nation.

2. Two of the top 20 passers for 1951—Don Leahy of Marquette, No. 3, and Bob Bestwick of Pitt, No. 14—plus the country's eighth best rushing star, John Kastan of Boston U.

The southerners aren't operating from hunger either—not with guys like All-America Guard Joe Palumbo from Virginia; Herschel Forester, Southern Methodist's All-Southwestern guard; Louisiana State's touch center, George Tarasovic.

In the backfield, Rebel Coaches Rex Enright of South Carolina, Rusty Russell of SMU and Gaynell Tinsley of LSU can count on help from the sensational Steve Wadiak, an Enright product; Gil Bocetti of Washington and Lee; Andy Davis of George Washington and Wofford's Classy Jack Beeler.

Bill Ashenfelter Wins National AAU Cross Country Race

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Bill Ashenfelter of Penn State College led four other top-flight runners across the finish line in the senior National AAU 10,000 meter cross country championship race at Fairmount Park yesterday.

Ashenfelter's only real competition came from Fred Wilt, the FBI man representing New York AC, who stayed on his heels across the entire 6 1/4 mile course. Third across was Horace Ashenfelter, 30:39.

Browns Win
While Los Angeles was whipping the Packers yesterday on five touchdown passes by Bob Waterfield and a 99-yard touchdown run by Jerry Williams, the Lions fell before the San Francisco 49ers, 21-17, and the Bears bowed to the Chicago Cardinals, 24-14.

The results left Detroit and San Francisco tied for second place, a half-game back of Los Angeles.

Cleveland, with the American conference title already wrapped up, finished out the season with a 24-9 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles for the Browns 11th straight win since losing the opener to the 49ers.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Steelers struck for three touchdowns in the final period for a 20-10 triumph over Washington and New York's Giants defeated the New York Yanks, 27-17, as fullback Price won league ground gaining honors and established a new circuit record for number of times carrying the ball.

Packers Scare Rams Before Losing 42-14 NFL Windup

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The rookie-studded Green Bay Packers gave Los Angeles quite a fright for a half, before finally bowing 42-14 here Sunday in a game that gave the Rams the National conference title in the National Football league.

Los Angeles meets Cleveland, the American conference winner, at Los Angeles for the pro championship next Sunday.

A victory over the Packers was a necessity for the star-studded Rams, despite Detroit's 21-17 loss to the San Francisco 49ers. A Detroit victory or tie would have won the title for the Lions. A Ram loss would have left Los Angeles a half game behind, even with a Detroit defeat.

More First Downs
The Rams ended up with eight wins and four losses. Detroit had seven wins, four losses and a tie. Green Bay finished exactly where it did in 1950—in fifth place—and with the same record, three wins and nine losses.

Despite the lop-sidedness of the score, the Packers rolled up 20 first downs to 18 for the Rams and gained 379 yards passing against 256. On the ground, however, the Packers got only 45 yards against 151. While he was topped in passing yardage Quarterback Bob Waterfield of the Rams pitched five times for touchdowns. Three of those five times he hit End Elroy Hirsch, once for 73 yards.

The Ram score aground came on a 99-yard run by Safety Jerry Williams, after he grabbed a field goal try by Packer Fred Cone.

Ties Record
In snagging three touchdown passes Hirsch brought his season's total to 17 and tied the all-time pro record established in 1942 by Green Bay's own Don Hutson.

Quarterback Tobin Rote flipped passes for both Green Bay touchdowns. He hit Billy Grimes for one from the 33 and Carlton Elliott with another from the 14. Cone's two conversions brought the Packers to the half in a 14-14 tie with the Rams.

Battering runs by the Rams' bull elephant backfield, plus Waterfield's pinpoint passes brought disaster after intermission.

Green Bay . . . 7 7 0 0-14
Los Angeles 14 0 14-42
Green Bay scoring: Touchdowns, Grimes, Elliott. Conversions Cone.

2. Los Angeles scoring: Touchdowns, Hoerner, Hirsch 3, Fears, Williams. Conversions, Waterfield 6.
